MADISONVILLE, KY - Tuesday night the Central Lady Storm took their winless record into MNHHS Maroon Gym to hopefully change their luck. The Lady Maroons on the other hand are off to a good start this year so they were heavily favored in this matchup. The North Hopkins Lady Maroons wasted no time jumping all over the Lady Storm. At halftime the score was 42-24 with Central trailing at the break. Hannah Murphy had 13 points in the first half, but unfortunately for Central she had little help offensively. The second half would only get worse for the Lady Storm, as the Lady Maroons went on to demolish their cross town rival by a final score of 78-43. Taylor Foster had 20 points for the North Hopkins Lady Maroons. Meanwhile, Hannah Murphy led the Storm with 18 points. Central is still looking for that first win after this one, but you have to think at some point with their talent that they can turn it around. For the Lady Maroons this was a big win for their team in front of a huge home crowd that was ready to go from the opening tip. The atmosphere for this one was electric, but the final score did not live up to the hype for this reporter.
