

Lady Maroons Blowout Lady Storm

Written by Donnie Ezell

Wednesday, 20 January 2010 10:47

HOPKINS COUNTY, KY - Tuesday night the Central Lady Storm looked to get revenge on the North Hopkins Lady Maroons for beating them in their first match up earlier this season.

The 1st quarter was quite competitive, as the Lady Storm hung tough. However, North slowly began pulling away as the game progressed. Heading in the 4th the Lady Maroons had a comfortable 27-point advantage. Unfortunately for Central, things would only get worse in the last period. North went on to win this game convincingly by a final score of 76-44. The Lady Storm only had one player in double figures in this game, which was ChShana Matchem. She led the way with 17 points. Lady Storm fans should continue to show support for their hard working team throughout the remainder of this great basketball season, as they continue to improve.

Information provided to iSurf by Donnie Ezell.

Karen Orange - iSurf News